TeslaWatt is an existing company with the Data Center in Nevada. We have built a specialized data center for cryptocurrency mining in order to fit the needs of this growing industry.

Our goal is to build a solar farm to provide our new and existing customers access to independent energy. The solar farm that we plan to build would allow miners to be independent from any major electric company that has a monopoly over the industry and could potentially increase the risk for investment in crypto mining devices.

TSW Token is utility token and enable you to use our current and future services (solar farm) as well as to have additional discount.
